Poonam Savale

User experience designer

Hello, I am a user experience designer based in Bangalore with 7+ years of work experience. I enjoy creating delightful, human-centered digital experiences. My curiosity towards human behaviour, a keen sense of observation and attention to detail have always guided me in creating meaningful and intuitive design solutions. I thrive in collaborative environments with ambitious teams.

At Adobe, I have been responsible for creating innovative self-service help experiences from concept to launch for millions of creatives worldwide. Throughout my career, I have been a strong advocate of a testing-driven iterative design process rooted in deep user understanding.
